Dear Ivanhoe Primary School Community, Primary Schools' Parliamentary Convention

This week two of our Year 6 students joined students from fifty other government, independent and catholic schools in the Victorian Students' Parliamentary Program that aims to provide opportunities that support the civic learning and active participation in democratic processes. The topic of the day was 'should a sugar tax be introduced to improve public health?' This was a wonderful example of providing school children with voice and agency in authentic "real world" situations. Maya and Lara's reports are below.

The Day We Went To Parliament House (Lara & Maya)

Hi I'm Lara

On Wednesday the 15th of August, while you were lolling about in school, Maya and I were at Melbourne's Parliament House. We were selected out of our whole school to go and represent Ivanhoe Primary. There were many other students from all over Melbourne there.

Lara states her case.

What were we doing exactly? We were taking part in a day of politics. We got to sit in the very chairs and room that hold actual parliamentary meetings! It was really fun and we got to meet some really important people, though not the Premier. Our topic was 'Should a Sugar Tax be Introduced to Improve Public Health?'

At first Maya and I were both on the fence about it, but at the end of the day, Maya said yes and I said no. We got to discuss it in little groups, then talked about it back in the parliament room. Then we had something called a soapbox. Basically, we could just voice our opinion about the sugar tax in front of the room, which Maya and I both did. Then there was discussion and we held a vote, but that was part of the fun! The scores were 46 agree, 45 disagree. The convention was put together really well, and had a way of making everyone feel included. I would definitely recommend it to the future grade sixes! (Lara 6HP)

Hi I'm Maya

The venue is amazing. Ornate is the word that comes to mind as Larissa and I gaze at the beautifully carved ceiling. Everything here is steeped in history and is fittingly majestic. We walk through the Vestibule to the Queen's Hall, where portraits of many important people greet us. Soon, we go into the Chamber and take our seats. We listen to speakers such as The Hon. Martin Dixon MP, Associate Prof. Julian Rait OAM, President, Australian Medical Association Victoria, and students from various schools, who have some very interesting things to say.

Soon it is time for morning tea back in the Queen's Hall. After a delicious bite, we go through to the Chamber, and another speaker, Simone Austin, gives us the privilege of listening to her speech. We are briefed and taken to discussion groups. For an hour or so, we respectfully discuss with children from other schools about the sugar tax. There are many pros and cons to think of. Finally, we come to a decision. Appointing a spokesperson, he and the rest of us write a speech. Two minutes is the given time, and we make sure we stick to that.

The whiteboard we found stands as testament to our thinking. We finish up just as a lovely lady comes to fetch us for lunch. When she said "Lunch in the garden" I didn't know she meant lunch in the BOTANIC Gardens! It was lovely, and so were the new friends I made.

After a quick walk, it was back inside the amazing Chamber to listen to the spokesperson for each group to report back to The Hon. Mr. Dixon and to everyone else. Our group decided for the sugar tax, but many others were against. Subsequently, the Soap Box session was opened, where everyone had a chance to voice their opinion. Larissa and I do so. Once most people have had their say, we vote. The result is very close. The people voted in favour of the sugar tax, but only won by 1 person, the decision being 45-46 each side. We returned by train after an exhausting but wonderful day we will never forget. (Maya 6C)

Hockey Congratulations

Congratulations to all of our students that recently represented IPS in the regional competition. Both Boys and Girls Teams are going through to compete in the State Championships on the 13th of September. Thank you to all the parents who have assisted in the organisation and transportation to events and particular thanks to Michelle Honey and her magnificent coaching skills and sports guru Mr McKay.

Please remember that the Department of Education requires that all drivers be comprehensively insured. That the school maintain a record of drivers licences, registration and insurance policy numbers.

Please can all parents who help us out in this manner (or intend to) please provide these details to the office as soon as possible please, and advise Mr McKay of your availability.

All the very best to our students as they train up for this significant event.

Want to help your child at home? Read together. (Timely as Book Week approaches ☺)

Reading together fosters a love of literature and encourages curiosity. Your child is never too old to be read to. Sometimes it's simply a matter of finding out what interests them. Not everybody enjoys fiction. You may need to try out a variety of genres before you find one that really grabs their attention. Don't discount picture books or graphic novels (comics) just because they are getting older. Explore a variety and let them choose the topic.

Reading together is a valuable thing to do. Reading increases your child's vocabulary, expands your child's understanding of the world, and gives them confidence when using language. Reading is also an important way to make the link between spoken words and written words.

Walkathon

The walkathon is our biggest FUNdraiser for the year. School improvement is high on the agenda and that includes play areas, equipment, plants etc. There is no end to what we can do.

The weather has proved perfect. Thank you to every staff member for involving yourselves so enthusiastically on the day. Also a huge thank you to all the parents and community volunteers, without whom we could not run the day. Thank you to every student for your enthusiasm and sense of fun.

Finally, the biggest thanks go to Mr McKay for planning, organising and leading the day.

Over the page are just a few of the photos quickly cobbled together for this newsletter.

There will be a full report next week.
